

Shop Bargains for the Week

By Margaret Belden.

NOVELTIES IN SUMMER DRESS FABRICS

JOHN WANAMAKER.

For the summer lingerie frock there are offered very lovely dress patterns of hand-embroidered handkerchief linen. At this season they are being especially priced at $6.75 and up. Pretty voiles for afternoon frocks are to be had in quite unusual designs, for 25 cents a yard. Odd Poiré border effects are copied from some of the imported silks. Floral effects on white or light-colored grounds are charming for this season's flounced and furbelowed costumes. There are pretty Irish dimities in Dresden patterns, which may be obtained for 12½ cents a yard.

JOHN DANIELL, SONS & SONS.

Imported pique in lovely soft grays, Delit blue, etc., as well as white, is selling for 15 cents a yard, one yard wide.

JAMES A. HEARN & SON.

Imported white organdie, forty-five inches wide, particularly sheer and dainty, makes excellent midsummer frocks. It is now on sale for the special price of 29 cents. At the same price I saw charming effects in the transparent crêpes. White gabardine for sport skirts and suits, may be had now for 15 cents; one yard wide.

JAMES MCCREERY & CO.

Waist patterns of very fine voile and organdie have unusually good imitation of the foreign hand embroidery in new designs, and are priced at $2.75 and up.

R. H. MACY & CO.

For summer frocks there is embroidered voile, forty inches wide, moderately priced at 33 cents a yard. The "Clip tape" striped voiles are quite novel in designs, and are offered for 29 cents a yard.

Lingerie---Negligees

OPPENHEIM, COLLINS & CO.

Japanese kimono in pretty cotton crepes embroidered in all-over designs in white are practical for hot days and cost only $1.50. A boudoir robe made in empire style is of pleated crepe de chine. It is caught over the shoulder with ribbon bands and finished with a pointed lace ruffle which matches the draped lace over-jacket. Price, $9.75.

BONWIT, TELLER & CO.

A very dainty gown is of fine pink mull, simply trimmed in Poiré style. A wide ribbon run through eyelets creates the empire effect. Price, $1.95. Another model of white batiste, smocked in colors, is reduced to the same price. For sale on Monday and Tuesday only for $1.95 are petticoats with deep embroidery flouncings, finished with ribbon run beading.

JAMES MCCUTCHEON & CO.

Little batiste gowns for the summer are daintily smocked in color and specially offered for only $1. Good-looking "pullman robes" simply put together with cat-stitching are of natural colored pongee. Price, $6.75. A messaline petticoat whose deep flounce is trimmed with several narrow pleated ruffles is priced at $2.95.

Frocks, Suits and Blouses

GIMBEL BROS.

Many of the dainty handmade French blouses are being marked down for this season and may be obtained now for only $5. Serviceable for very warm days are plain little blouses of sheer white organdie simply put together with hemstitching and offered for $2.

FRANKLIN SIMON & CO.

Smocked blouses in white drill, made with a belt, are ideal for sport wear and are priced $1.75. The garden smocks in pretty colored linen are reduced to $3.95.

B. ALTMAN & CO.

A special suit for outing wear, and equally practical for travelling, is made of a cool, light gray worsted, similar to that material which has long been a special favorite with men for summer wear. This is a belted model with sport skirt, which buttons up the front. Price, $15. A white net frock made in surplice effect, trimmed solely with white velvet forget-me-nots, is very suitable for the young girl. The skirt has a very full pointed tunic. Price, $15.

BEST & CO.

An attractive crêpe de chine frock for the young girl is made on distinctly simple lines, and has dainty turnback collar and cuffs of organdie. It is shown in awning stripes and in plain white or dark blue, for $11.50. Well-made sport skirts of white cordeline with patch pockets are to be obtained for $2.95.

Consideration of the Masculine Wardrobe

JOHN DANIELL SONS & SONS.

Men's nicely made pajamas, of good quality soisette or madras, are reduced to 95 cents.

STERN BROS.

Nice little wash suits for older boys from seven to sixteen years are of a good looking cotton covert cloth, crash or khaki. These have two pairs of trousers—straight ones and

The striped hat of rubberized satin, equally suitable for bathing or beach wear, costs $1.25 at Altman's. The sports blouse, gay with chintz, is sold at Bonwit Teller's for $5.50.

Sales in Gloves, Shoes and Hosiery

JOHN DANIELL SONS & SONS.

Odds and ends of good list hosiery in open-work designs, embroidered clocks and plain effects are being closed out at the reduced price of 25 cents.

P. CENTEMERI & CO.

Bargains are to be found among the $1.50 silk gloves in white, gray, brown and the evening shades, which are reduced to 65 cents. These come in 12 and 16 button lengths. A pretty silk glove with lace top cost $1 in the 16-button length. A better quality is $1.95. The new "West Point" glove, which has a row of buttons and simulated buttonholes down the back, is to be had in silk as well as kid. A V-shaped inset of black is buttoned across the wrist. Price, $1.75.

MARK CROSS COMPANY.

Very good English doeskin gloves, washable with soap and water, are reduced to $1.25; the lines are somewhat broken and they are obtainable in the smaller sizes only. All sizes are carried in the excellent English cape

The Smart Outing Hat

GIMBEL BROS.

Ribbon banded sport hats in plain colors or with brim in contrasting shade are offered for $3.85. The "Riksha" hats (chair cane effects) for seashore or country wear are attractively combined with facings of cretonne and bands to match. Price, $1.25.

BLOOMINGDALE BROS.

Good looking sailor hats in white and black Milan mixtures are moderately priced at $1.99. Rough straw ones are $1.49.

BONWIT, TELLER & CO.

Here I saw simple double net fichus edged with narrow frills for 50 cents. A distinctive sport blouse is made of heavy linen with chintz collar, pipings, and belt, which is run through eyelets. Price, $5.50.

LORD & TAYLOR.

A very practical undergarment for the small boy is made with underwaist and drawers all in one piece, and is easily slipped on and buttoned on the shoulder. A stout band at the waist has buttons to which the little trousers may be fastened. This undergarment is the only one necessary in hot weather. In barred muslins these simple combinations cost 50 cents, in nice quality soisette, $1. A cool little one-piece suit for the small boy of from three to seven years is made in a silk and linen mixture. It has short sleeves, loose trousers, and is trimmed in a contrasting color. Price, $1.85. Men's alpaca office coats for the warm days are offered for $1.50.

BEST & CO.

Boy's two-piece suits in seersucker, kindergarten cloth, gingham, etc., are marked at about half their original price and are on sale for $1.15.

THE DETAILS THAT LEND DISTINCTION

JOHN DANIELL SONS & SONS.

Taffeta parasols in a great variety of styles, including plain colors, checks and floral or striped borders, formerly priced as high as $3, are being reduced to $1.75.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

Net boleros stamped, to be braided at home, cost only $1.25. At $3 are very lovely motor scarfs of Roman striped and black and white fibre silks with fringed ends. They are also used as sweater sashes.

GIMBEL BROS.

Boleros of striped silk messaline are to be had for $2.95. Garden smocks with white collars and cuffs are now priced $2.95. Cretonne garden aprons with wide hats to match are shown here for $1.25.

B. ALTMAN & CO.

A black and white striped beach parasol of gigantic proportions is priced $3.50. Priced at $1.25 are striped messaline beach hats with wide brims. These are of rubberized materials and therefore may be used for bathing also.

Cottage Furniture

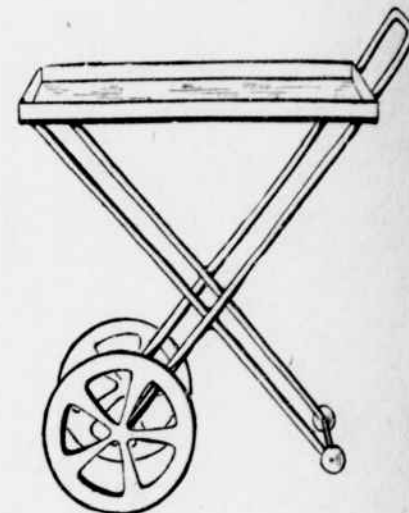

THE MARK CROSS CO.

A mahogany tea stand with three trays, each sufficiently large to hold two plates, costs $12. Folding tables for tea or cards are enameled in ivory and covered with attractive rose and blue chintz. Price, $4.50. A smoker's stand of oxidized metal with cigar rest and matchbox holder automatically empties the ashes into a cellar beneath. Price, $2.75.

GEIGER & BRAVERMAN.

West Twenty-third Street.

A nest of four tables for afternoon tea, fitting one beneath the other, is a good arrangement for the verandah. Finished in mahogany these are priced at $10. Another useful item for the summer cottage is the bookrack with extra shelf beneath for magazines or papers. This measures twenty-six inches in length and may be bought for $4.75. One of the most graceful teatables I have seen is a long, oval-shaped one of mahogany with extra shelf beneath. The top, which tilts when not used like the old "tilttop table," forms a capacious tray with mahogany edge and glass bottom. Price, $13.75.

The zenith of efficiency is reached in this light folding tea wagon, with glass bottom tray. Price $4.49 at Macy's.

STERN BROS.

Six-inch wide sash ribbons in blazer stripes and black and white combinations cost 30 cents a yard.

BEST & CO.

Parasols of natural color pongee with simple band of hemstitching are offered for $3. With pongee centre and floral inset finished with a border in plain brown they are $3.50.

Useful Apparel for the Very Young Daughter

JOHN WANAMAKER.

An inexpensive yet dainty little frock for very small children may be had in plain white dimity for only $1. These are stamped to be embroidered in colored floss, in the quaint cross-stitched patterns.

OPPENHEIM, COLLINS & CO.

Cretonne garden frocks for children from eight to fourteen years old are made with pleated skirts and little coats combined with guimpe of white flaxon. Price $3.95. Special frocks for girls of the "awkward age" are in pretty block voiles in the lighter shades. These have black velvet girdle and turnback collar and cuffs of organdie, and cost only $2.95.

FRANKLIN SIMON & CO.

A sensible and rather attractive little bloomer frock for girls up to fourteen years is made of plain blue and brown percale. The blouse is long waisted, is belted and reaches half way to the knee, partly covering the very full-pleated bloomers. These are so made as to produce a skirt effect. Price, $2.75. Another pretty little morning frock for the girl up to sixteen years has a plain belted waist and a pretty, striped skirt. Price, $4.75.

BONWIT, TELLER & CO.

Sport skirts for girls from eight to sixteen years are offered for $1 in khaki, white or dark blue. Middies to match cost the same. Hand smocked sport blouses of white lawn are $2.95. They have short sleeves.

JAMES MCCUTCHEON & CO.

An original little frock, priced at only $1.50, is suitable for either the small boy or girl up to six years old. It is of white dimity, has short sleeves, and its sole trimming consists of dainty hemstitching in colors. Laced up the front with a cord and belted across the front is this cool little garment, which is worn with bloomers of the same material attached to an underwaist.

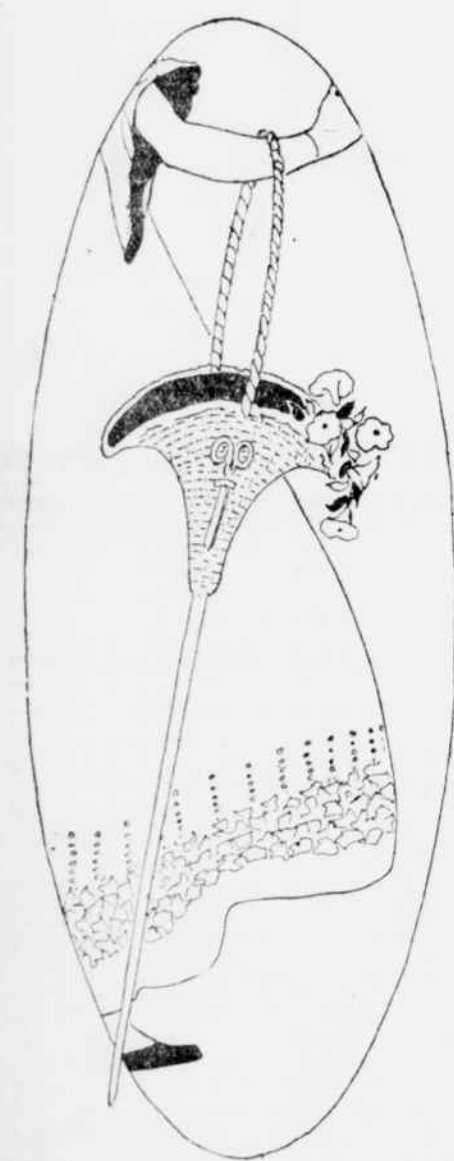

Another pretty little frock for girls from six to ten is made of a pretty blue-figured dimity. Bands of embroidery trim the square neck and emphasize the high-waisted effect. Price $3.50.

LANE BRYANT.

"The Gretchen model," a particularly attractive little frock for the morning, is made of pink or blue Anderson gingham. This is hand smocked and the collar and cuffs are daintily finished in French knots and featherstitching. In sizes up to four years. Price $1.95. A nice little chambray frock is box-pleated and is finished with a bit of hand work down the front and on the collar. In white or colors, price, $1.65. Priced at $1.95 is a white poplin frock made on very straight lines and belted high and trimmed solely with a bit of featherstitching in color. This is also for the small girl up to six years.

Smocking adds a touch of daintiness to the first little dress, which Lane Bryant sells for $1.95. The central figure shows a little dimity frock, with bloomers, costing $1.50 at McCutcheon's. The pleated bloomers look like a skirt, in this practical brown or dark blue percale dress, which Franklin Simon offers for $2.75.

The scissors will not fall from this garden basket, with its long, graceful lines. Sold at Mark Cross's for $6.

The Traveller's Needs

JOHN DANIELL SONS & SONS.

A good suitcase, practical for short motor trips, costs $3.25 in the sixteen-inch length and $3.50 in the eighteen-inch length. These are covered with enamel duck. A motorist's lunch-box, containing sandwich tin and plates, knives and forks for three people, is also enamel duck covered, and is here specially offered for $4.50.

SAKS & CO.

Well-made, black cowhide overnight cases, lined with moire silk and containing nine fittings in imitation ivory, are specially priced at $10.95. Cowhide suit cases, 22 inches long, are lined with a detachable "limousine toilet case" fitted with ten pieces of imitation ivory. It is priced at $15. The Hartman wardrobe trunk, of fibre, has ten hangers, five drawers and a convertible hatbox; it is now reduced to $22.

LORD & TAYLOR.

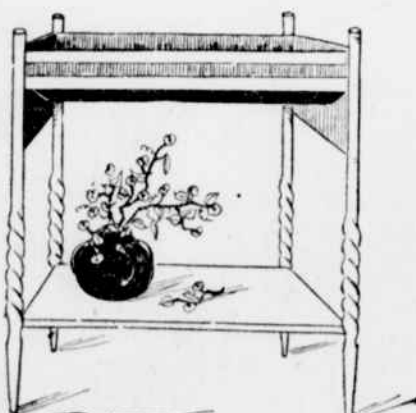

Women's linen motor coats with large pockets are priced at $5. Useful travelling coats in excellent tweed and fancy check mixtures are made on good full, slightly flaring lines, like the men's smart English topcoats. These have been cravatnetted and will also serve as raincoats. Price $15.

STERN BROS.

A silk travelling or motor hat, with stitched brim, is sold, with a small suede leather case, for 95 cents. A compact little pigskin case contains a flask, flattened tumbler, knife, fork and spoon, and costs $2.95.

FRANKLIN SIMON & CO.

Folded in a neat suede leather case are four coat-hangers and a flat clothes brush. Price, $1.95. A strong, nickel-plated sandwich box, with an extra part to be used as a serving dish, is priced at $1.

An excellent bookstand in solid mahogany costs but $4.75 at Geiger & Braverman's.